

I have been a listener to AirI for over two years and a financial supporter for more than one. I listen to Air I daily, almost to the exclusion of any other stations. I know of many other community members who also listen to and appreciate this station. The airwaves are filled with all varieties and types of music, talk, opinion, and promotion. Air I is a breath of fresh air that presents a message contrary to the usual one presented by mainstream radio stations. The station is commercial free and therefore exists solely due to the loyal listeners that value its programming. My local area deserves to have the option of tuning in to all types of programming, including the airwaves sent out by Air I. LPFM stations should not be given priority over this FM translator service. Air I performs a valuable service to my local community. Respectfully, Lynette Jacobson
